New information offering on the SNB's market operations

Dear Sir/Madam

To date, the Swiss National Bank has provided information on the operations it conducts to implement its monetary policy and on the transactions it carries out on behalf of the Confederation via various channels. This information will now be published in consolidated form at marketoperations.snb.ch. In addition to announcements, results and calendars on the market operations, this website contains ad hoc announcements for counterparties (e.g. when an auction is postponed or the emergency procedure is applied).

The new website offers market participants clear and simple access to information. An interface with messages in a standardised format is available for machine processing. The legal basis and background information on the implementation of monetary policy remain available at snb.ch. Longer-term historical data can still be found on the data portal at data.snb.ch.

Please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any questions.

Yours sincerely

Swiss National Bank
