Expansion of SNB data portal

Access to comprehensive and detailed datasets

The Swiss National Bank (SNB) is expanding its data portal (data.snb.ch) to allow access to comprehensive and detailed datasets.

Until now, the data portal comprised a predefined table selection on a variety of topics. The new component now enables users to individually filter datasets of SNB survey data according to different criteria, allowing a fine-grained selection of data series. Searches are aided by means of a keyword catalogue. Selected time series can be viewed, configured and downloaded in the same format as the existing tables.

Initially, additional detailed information on the annual banking statistics surveys will be made available. The new data on offer supplement the Banks in Switzerland 2015 publication and the relevant predefined tables. The range of datasets will be expanded in the course of time.

With this new 'Datasets' component, the SNB is significantly expanding the data it makes available to the public. The finer granularity of the data provides considerable added value particularly for all those interested in specific questions and topics.
